Nick Lombardi : The Forgotten Generation before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Forgotten Generation:

I chose to write this story at the 50th Anniversary of the start of the Korean War . The Korean Conflict, as it was called, was a real war that the US chose not to declare a war. We are part of the forgotten generation. Born after the depression of the late 20's and spaced between the returning GI's of WW II, the baby boomers and the Vietnam War, which was declared a war, even though it was unpopular. I never remembered a war in history that would kill thousands or millions of people, called popular. The chapters you will read are pulled from conversations and tapes from Cpl. Frank Chimera and put into form with the writer. I didn

About the AuthorThe author attended the Industrial Arts High School in Manhattan, after graduation entered the advertising field as an assistant to an art director in an ad agency. While working in the advertising field, he wrote copy for 2 award winning trade campaigns, which he also helped art direct. After that, writing was relegated to pr releases, trade and promotional copy and occasionally, an article for trade publications. He chose to bring this story forward on the 50th anniversary of the start of the Korean War.
