The Author does a fantastic job of relaying the factual information of events of this tragic USAF C-141 crash interwoven with personal stories of the victims, one survivor and the people who rescued him. Written in a very flowing style and with great consideration to the memory of the victims and the survivor and the wonderful people of Hueva who risked their own lives to rescue him and look for other survivors.

In the town of Hueva, Guadalajara province, few forget the date of August 28, 1973, where an US C-141 "Starlifter" military transport aircraft crashed with 25 people on board. Only one member of the crew survived thanks to the efforts of two of Hueva's exemplary citizens. There were many unknowns surrounding this air crash. Now, 43 years later, all the facts of this tragic event are revealed with the story of that horrible accident and the testimony of its protagonists.
