0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Wonderful information about the Civil WarBy TODD R.Wonderful information about the Civil War. My great great grandfather served in this regiment. It was certainly rewarding to get a glimpse into that time in his life. Thank you. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. One of my Great Grandfathers was a member of this unit during the war

By Paul D Tallent This is a extremely good first person story of their experience in the American Civil War. I had not read very much about the war activities in the deep south before. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. this is a great book!
By cbraucher My husbands uncle is named in this book, we are now planning a trip to visit the gravesite in Savanna Georgia, this is a great book!!!

This book contains never before published information, including artillery firing tables, for an Indiana infantry regiment converted to heavy artillery. It concentrates upon these Hoosiers' three-and-a-half years of duty in the Trans-Mississippi Theater and Gulf states during the Civil War, often as a separate command. They acted as infantry, cavalry and light artillery (with captured cannons) before being converted to heavy artillery in 1863. Their cannons and artillery equipment were hauled by hundreds of mules. The regiment participated in the taking of New Orleans, securing an important rail link to Morgan City, Louisiana, the Teche Campaign, the siege and reduction of Port Hudson, the Red River Campaign, and sieges and reductions of Fort Gaines, Fort Morgan, Spanish Fort and Fort Blakely, Alabama.

"The extremely detailed regimental roster makes this work a good genealogical resource...well organized, factually sound...outstanding...deserves very high marks"--Civil War News; "well researched and with an abundantly detailed narrative...a remarkable regimental history...highly recommended"--Civil War Books and Authors. About the Author Retired administrative vice-president and corporate secretary Phillip E. Faller was educated at Indiana University and Indiana Central College in Indianapolis. He has published articles on siege artillery in The Artilleryman and wrote a two-part article on the evolution of the Merrill rifle and carbine for The Gun Report. He lives in Gonzales, Louisiana.
